

Gamblers pass success on to charities

More than $50,000 donated during 2008-09 season

Green Bay (May 6, 2009) – After a successful season on the ice with increased attendance at the Resch Center, the Green Bay Gamblers are pleased to announce this past season's games generated $52,348 for charity groups.

The money was donated by the Gamblers through ticket proceeds, celebrity waiter dinners, donation matches by sponsors, silent auctions and money raised by organizations allowed to do a 50-50 raffle at each home game.

"Part of our mission in putting together a quality hockey team is also tying in the local community that supports us," said Gamblers President Brendan Bruss. "This year was extra special on the ice and it helped drive increased dollars to charities."

Organizations that received funds include: Youth hockey groups throughout Northeastern Wisconsin, Heavenly Hats, Center for Childhood Safety, Vince Lombardi Cancer Clinic, St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, Green Bay Boys & Girls Club, Autism Society of Wisconsin and YMCA.
